Worth selling your Granny for!

The iCADE is a flashback to the glory days of gaming – it integrates your iPad into an authentic, arcade-style cabinet complete with joystick and buttons! The specially designed cradle ensures safe loading and unloading of your iPad, while also providing a solid, secure fit even during the most intense game-play sessions. Furthermore, the cradle offers an ideal screen-viewing angle and quickly connects iCADE's top-quality arcade controls directly to your iPad wirelessly. iCADE is compatible with 100 Atari classics including Asteroids, Centipede and Battlezone. This truly unique arcade cabinet game-controller for iPad will provide hours of action and nostalgic fun for years to come. This is going on FOC's Christmas list for sure!

Have you ever heard of a gadget that charges while being used and doesn't even need to be plugged in? A group of designers from Korea have made this possible. The Ecopad features "nano piezoelectricity film" underneath the display that produces electricity and recharges itself each time the user presses the touch screen. Users normally press their touch screen over 10,000 times a day, and with the Ecopad, this can now be converted into electricity to power this revolutionary device.

MUSIC TO YOUR EARS

As the digital revolution has made music more widely available, mobile and compact, a good quality dock is essential. The Acoustable Coffee Table Sound System by designers Jérôme Spriet and Wolfgang Bregentzer features a TEAC sound system that provides 360 degrees of audio playback. By either USB or optional WiFi, your laptop, iPhone and more can all connect to this table for an amplified audio experience. There are no visible technical elements, only the player and a remote, which can both be stored in a built-in pocket. The shape and material of this table are designed for acoustics, and the resulting look is both sleek and stylish.
